Introducing INSEAD’s new Master in Finance

Shaping the financial leaders of tomorrow

Learn more

The inaugural INSEAD Master in Finance (MIF) is designed for recent graduates and early-career professionals (0–2 years’ experience) seeking to launch or accelerate careers in global finance. The programme combines rigorous technical training, AI-enhanced learning and practitioner-led practicals that mirror real-world decision-making, while building the interpersonal, teamwork and problem-solving skills employers demand.

Students can tailor their experience through three specialised tracks – Wealth Management, Corporate Finance & Private Markets or an open track – preparing them to lead, innovate and thrive in today’s rapidly evolving financial markets.

Your course timeline

The INSEAD MIM curriculum integrates AI and Sustainability as core pillars of the learning experience. These critical drivers of change are embedded across key modules, preparing you to navigate and shape the future of business.

* Students need to complete one field trip in order to graduate.
Subject to visa requirements.

Practicals: Preparing you for the working world

A two-week module has been integrated into each period to help you gain the hands-on skills you will need to succeed in the real world.

During these modules you learn to put into practice all your classroom teachings through simulations, real-life business situations and projects from partnering companies.

Beyond classroom learning, the practicals allow you to showcase your skills and receive feedback from real organisations to give you a head start in your career.

What you can expect from a practical:

Learning, strengthening and application

Learning new skills	Business knowledge	Your turn to try
Lectures - Learn to use new tools - Review what you have learned from core courses - Reinforce your skills	Company presentation and case - Gather industry knowledge - Understand how real companies work - Network with company representatives	Group case, simulation and presentation - Build your teamwork capability - Practise your problem-solving skills - Refine

“The Negotiations Practical and the hands-on exercises were invaluable. I hadn't previously realised that negotiation wasn't my strong suit. In real negotiations, you rarely know what the other party is thinking, so the direct feedback during debriefs was extremely useful – it helped me identify my gaps and improve.”

Talk to people who have done the programme—I found them incredibly generous with advice. For the GMAT, don’t overthink it: prepare properly and you’ll be fine. And in interviews, be yourself. It’s more about showing who you are than listing technical skills.”
